
Editing Notes (Rev. November 17)

This document and other related documents is in the folder 'docs' on the main server in a folder called 'instructions'.

The main server access (to upload files):

1. To get to the server, login:

<https://portlandnursery.com:2083>

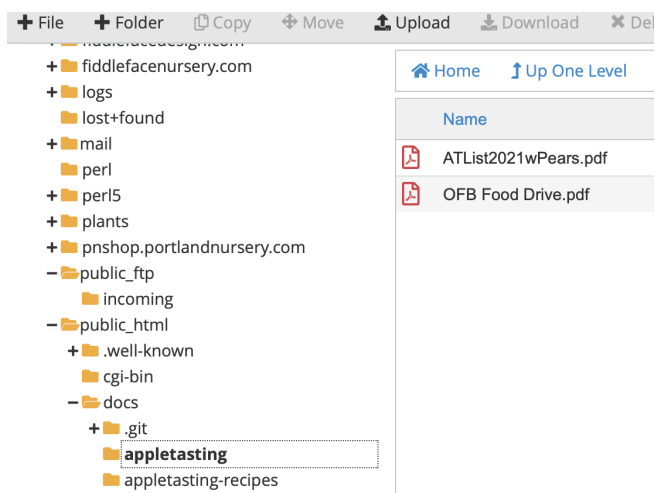

login name: portland

password: h9OStJwHMpfKpJC

2. This takes you to "Cpanel" - In the second set of icons, click on "File Manager" - this will take you to the file directory. The website for portlandnursery.com (not the shopping site) is stored in the folder 'public_html' and looks like this with folders:

- | | |
|---------------|---|
| - public_html | a. You can ignore "well-known" and "cgi-bin" |
| + .well-known | b. "docs" contains all the pdfs referenced on the website. See notes below for replacing. |
| + cgi-bin | |
| + docs | c. "mainsite" is the CMS |
| + mainsite | d. "newsletter" contains all the past html newsletters |
| + newsletter | e. "plants" contains the directory "images" with all the images used on the site. |
| + plants | f. "products" contains a program called "Bag Calc" that I was asked to build: https://portlandnursery.com/products/bagcalc.html |
| + products | |

3. In file manager, you can use the "upload" command to add or replace a file in the "docs" folder. Make sure the folder that you want to add to is open in the window, for example, this shows the folder "appletasting" open. And the "upload" button is at the top. Click on that and it will walk you through uploading a file. Then use the command at the bottom to return to the file manager.

4. To delete a file, highlight the file and right click and select delete.

General Notes

1. Titles - H in editor box - the existing format/style can be seen by clicking on the text, then it shows up in left corner when in edit - the styles are:
 - a. H2 is Brighton
 - b. H3, H4 is in Josefin Sans
2. The first paragraph on a page automatically becomes larger.
3. Images
 - a. Save your images as .jpg files or as .webp
 - b. Sidebar Images for narrow sidebars should be 360px wide; images in main body can be 750px wide. Only use .jpg images - not png images which are not as Google friendly due to the space they take up.
 - c. To insert an image in edit mode, click on the edit area, select the image icon and find the image and upload. Once it is uploaded, you can highlight the image and click on the 'link' icon and add a link.
 - d. To delete an image in edit mode, highlight the image, then use the 'trashcan' icon in the editor.
4. When adding a link, paste the link into the box provided and then click the green arrow - if it is a link to a NON-portlandnursery.com page, click the gray arrow box to the right of the link first - this will cause the link to open in a new tab.

5. Uploading documents: All pdf documents are stored in a directory on the hosting server called 'docs' - they are divided in logical folders. You can name your new document the same name as what is already up there and just upload it to replace the one there. If you name it something different, you'll need to go in to every page that links to the document and change the name. It is important to delete or replace the old document because it will be found in a search.
